

Del & Jewell Lewis Endowed Chair - #604687

The Department of Educational Leadership in the College of Education seeks to appoint an eminent scholar as the Del and Jewell Lewis Endowed Chair by Fall 2020. This prestigious endowed position represents a unique opportunity to participate in leading the College to national prominence in educating school leaders, as well as positively influencing all facets of school performance across Arizona. The ideal candidate is an individual whose active research agenda and extensive publication record in high-quality refereed journals will enhance and further inspire the preparation and ongoing development of highly effective educational leaders. We welcome candidates whose scholarly work in educational leadership explores any of the following issues: the preparation and/or support of effective school leaders; justice and equity in relation to race, culture, gender and/or sexuality; and Indigenous and/or Borderlands youth, families, and communities (issues of land, migration, ability, and/or language). Recognized as a leader in education in Arizona and beyond, the College of Education at Northern Arizona University is committed to developing educational leaders who create tomorrow's opportunities. Northern Arizona University and the College of Education are deeply committed to academic programs, research, public service, and creative endeavors that enrich lives and create opportunities in Arizona and beyond. We develop solutions to challenges and drive innovation in a supportive, inclusive, and diverse environment. Our rigorous, programs and pioneering research—with substantial community impact—provide the foundation for transformational student opportunities that prepare graduates to excel in creating a sustainable future, regionally, nationally and globally. The Department of Educational Leadership offers an Ed.D. in Educational Leadership with specializations in Pre-K-12 Leadership and Community College/Higher Education Leadership, as well as several master's degrees and graduate certificates. For more information about EDL programs and faculty, visit <http://nau.edu/COE/Ed-Leadership/>.

Minimum Qualifications:

1. Conferred doctorate in the study of Pre-K-12 leadership, educational policy or directly related field.
2. Qualifications consistent with the rank of Associate or Full Professor in the College of Education at NAU.
3. A documented research record of national prominence directly related to the field of educational leadership.
4. Leadership experience at the Pre-K-12 level with evidence of progressively expanding responsibilities beyond entry level appointments.

Special Information
The Department of Educational Leadership in the College of Education seeks to appoint an eminent scholar as the Del and Jewell Lewis Endowed Chair by Fall 2020. This prestigious endowed position represents a unique opportunity to participate in leading the College to national prominence in educating school leaders, as well as positively influencing all facets of school performance across Arizona. The ideal candidate is an individual whose active research agenda and extensive publication record in high-quality refereed journals will enhance and further inspire the preparation and ongoing development of highly effective educational leaders. We welcome candidates whose scholarly work in educational leadership explores any of the following issues: the preparation and/or support of effective school leaders; justice and equity in relation to race, culture, gender and/or sexuality; and Indigenous and/or Borderlands youth, families, and communities (issues of land, migration, ability, and/or language).

Recognized as a leader in education in Arizona and beyond, the College of Education at Northern Arizona University is committed to developing educational leaders who create tomorrow's opportunities. Northern Arizona University and the College of Education are deeply committed to academic programs, research, public service, and creative endeavors that enrich lives and create opportunities in Arizona and beyond. We develop solutions to challenges and drive innovation in a supportive, inclusive, and diverse environment. Our rigorous, programs and pioneering research—with substantial community impact—provide the foundation for transformational student opportunities that prepare graduates to excel in creating a sustainable future, regionally, nationally and globally.

The Department of Educational Leadership offers an Ed.D. in Educational Leadership with specializations in Pre-K-12 Leadership and Community College/Higher Education Leadership, as well as several master's degrees and graduate certificates. For more information about EDL programs and faculty, visit <http://nau.edu/COE/Ed-Leadership/>.

Please see Current Job Openings on NAU's Human Resources website for full job descriptions and details on how to apply!

NAU is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Institution. Women, minorities, veterans and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.